TECHEXPO Top Secret Awarded Job Fair Production Contracts for FOSE and AFCEA's TechNet Tradeshows in Washington DC

Tuesday January 31, 11:24 am ET

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 /PRNewswire/ -- As the demand for workers with government and military experience continues, the nation's leading producer of hiring events serving this sector, TECHEXPO Top Secret, is pleased to announce it will hold special recruitment events within two of the largest Washington DC government & defense industry trade shows this year. Both PostNewsweek Tech Media and AFCEA have chosen TECHEXPO Top Secret to produce the official hiring forums within their annual events, FOSE and TechNet International respectively.

"FOSE 2006 is the hub of the government technology community, annually drawing 20,000 attendees and over 550 exhibiting companies," explains Lorenz Hassenstein, Vice President, Events, PostNewsweek Tech Media. "TechExpo's career fair is a perfect compliment to FOSE, providing the attendees with a chance to network with employers and pursue their professional career goals. TECHEXPO will be open on Tuesday and Wednesday during FOSE, catering to both civilian and defense personnel."

"AFCEA is excited once again to be teaming with TECHEXPO Top Secret, one of the most prestigious professional career fairs in the IT market-space," says Becky Nolan, AFCEA Executive Vice President. "For 5 years now, TECHEXPO has brought thousands of qualified professionals to meet with hundreds of corporate recruiters at AFCEA's annual TechNet Conference and Exposition. TECHEXPO has become an integral part of TechNet, a dynamic complement to the robust Government-Industry dialogue which takes place there."

"We are proud to have been chosen by these two prestigious organizations once again," states Bradford Rand, President & CEO of TECHEXPO Top Secret. "At both job fairs, there will be hundreds of opportunities, especially for those just returning from overseas. It is my distinct honor to help give back all of those who have served our nation. Nearly all of the service men and women from our armed forces have an active security clearance making them a top choice for recruitment from such prestigious companies such as Lockheed Martin, Northrop Grumman Mission Systems, General Dynamics, AT&T Government Solutions, SAIC and Raytheon, who have already committed to build their staff through the TECHEXPO Top Secret platform. Further, our exhibitors such as these year after year praise us for the quality of professionals they meet at both the FOSE and TechNet events."
